

Florentino Perez faces legal action from Real Madrid fans for Copa del Rey exit

Published 6/04/2016

Real Madrid were kicked out of the Copa del Rey after fielding the ineligible Denis Cheryshev in a match against Cadiz in December.

Nobody had informed former Real Madrid head coach Rafael Benitez of Cheryshev's suspension and it was the Spanish coach who took most of the flak, but two scarred Los Blancos fans are seeking damages from Florentino Perez.

This is according to Spanish newspaper AS, who understand a lawsuit was filed by Catalan lawyer Felipe Izquierdo against the Real Madrid president on Tuesday morning.

Raúl Giménez Guillem and Susana Castaño Caba claim to have been financial and morally affected after Los Blancos were thrown out of the competition by the Spanish football federation.
